Japanese Testifies That Spencer Told Laborers To Keep off the Platform.

"If you come on the platform we will shoot you!"

According to the testimony of Kinoshita, one of the Laysan Island Japanese, the third witness in the Spencer case, the above warning was given by shooting occurred on the evening of four and 95-100 Dollars, I have levied Saturday, August 11. Then Kinoshita went on to say that after this warning had been given he, Kinoshita, advanced further onto the platform. "I didn't think they would shoot," he said. He was mistaken, evidently, for when he advanced the shooting commenced and he fell with a ball through his side.

> At half past one o'clock yesterday afternoon the preliminary examination in the Laysan Island killing affair was resumed in the Police Court before Judge Wilcox. Okamu, the second witness, who was still on the stand when court adjourned on Tuesday, went in the witness box when the examination was continued yesterday.

"We got crackers and three other meals on Sunday." "Prior to that week did you ever get four meals at one time, either from Spilner or anybody else?" "Yes, before Spencer came down."

"When?" "I know I got them but don't remember when. I can't say the hour or the day." The case went on in this way for some time, the testimony given A San Diego Ex-Policeman Brings amounting to the following. The cook was in the habit of drawing the ration of rice for all hands about noon for one week and just before supper the next week. The regular ration of rice was two pounds for each man. When the cook procured the ration it was enough to last for three meals. The witness became somewhat excited while giving his testimony concerning the rice. He sa'd it was all "plain enough" and evidently wondered what the cross-examiner was driving at. Kinney stuck to questions about the rice until the Court THE SEVENTH ASSESSMENT ON manifested some impatience. Inasmuch as the Japanese was not guilty of answering any question without a great deal of conversation on the subject, the examination called for patience from everybody concerned. Attorney Kinney was evidently trying to show that when the Japanese complained of having no rice on Saturday, August 11, the day of the shooting, they had no right line of questioning almost to a definite | tion is settled. 'The captain's son." Then there are two men to be punished-the captain and his son?" "I don't know even if this man shot or not." The witness pointed to Captain Spencer.

THE THIRD WITNESS.

Kinoshita, one of the men wour the shooting affair, was the third witness. High Sheriff Brown examined the inson on Tuesday, the 18th day of September 18th day of witness thoroughly. He told much the tember, 1900, purpose of meeting being same story as the other two on direct

"I don't know." "Do you know if the boss fired?" "I didn't see him." Attorney Kinney, on cross-examination, questioned the witness first concerning the hoop-iron swords. There were eight of the swords in the court-room. Kinney picked up each in turn Most of them had cloth wrapped tightly around one end to serve as a handle. Only one of the lot appeared to have "Did Spencer write it down when you had the cloth handles on any length of The others showed no iron rust at all on the inside of the cloth wrappings. cas, said in an interview:

"Just before I salled for New York I learned that the joint commission of Colombians and Venezuelans appointed by the Queen of Spain to decide the boundary line between Colombia and Venezuela, has completed its task and had advanced the boundary line to the Negro river. This gives to Colombia a slice of Venezuela which reduces the size of the latter nearly one-eighth. The land in question is barren country. The decision of the commission was received acceptably by the Venezuelans." Mr. Loomis said the talk of a war between Colombia and Venezuela is utterly groundless.
